

Making Transition Stick

TIP SHEET

Transition to adulthood, assists a student with a disability to move smoothly from school to post-school activities (the areas of live, learn, work and play). The activities help the student develop skills for continued education (college), vocational training (trades), employment (supported/competitive), adult services (programs), independent living and participating in the community. The activities are based on the expressed future goals of the student including: interests, likes, dislikes and abilities and the development of the necessary skills that are needed for success in achieving those goals.
